

OPENING OF INTERNATIONAL TENDER PROCEDURE FOR HIRING A POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCHER WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE PROJECT “101044428 — VirulenceControl — ERC-2021-COG”, DESIGNATED BY “The role of an expanded effector kinase family in environmental sensing and regulation of virulence in human malaria”

1. Within the powers delegated by the Board of Trustees of the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, the Trustee in charge of the Department of the Instituto Gulbenkian de Ciência authorized opening of an international Tender for the position of postdoctoral researcher to carry out scientific research activities at the Instituto Gulbenkian de Ciência (IGC) facilities, in Oeiras, Portugal, under an undefined employment contract, with a view to filling a vacancy within the scope of the project “101044428 — VirulenceControl — ERC-2021-COG”, with the title “The role of an expanded effector kinase family in environmental sensing and regulation of virulence in human malaria”, financed by Horizon Europe.

The candidate to be selected will work in the laboratory of Cell Biology of Host-Pathogen Interaction (<https://gulbenkian.pt/ciencia/research-groups/mtreeck/>), directed by Dr. Moritz Treeck. We are looking for an experienced postdoc interested in how the malaria causing parasite Plasmodium falciparum remodels the host cell to evade the immune response. This is an ERC funded project where we aim to understand how a kinase family expanded in only one of 5 human infecting species allows the parasite to sense and respond to conditions found in the host. We are seeking researchers with strong skills in cell biology, protein biochemistry and structural biology that are interested in the study of how the malaria parasite remodels the host red blood cell. We are looking for teamplayers that can drive their individual project to develop their niche. We provide a stimulating and supportive research environment.

Scientific Area: Host-pathogen interaction, cell biology and biochemistry.
