

CURRICULUM VITAE

Sérgio Gulbenkian, PhD

Place and date of birth - Neuilly-sur-Seine, France, 8 April 1957.

Academic career

- Invited Assistant Professor of Pathology, Faculty of Medicine, University of Lisbon (2009-).
- Doctor of Philosophy in Biology (Board of studies: Animal Morphology and Physiology), Faculty of Sciences, University of Lisbon (1989).
- Doctor of Philosophy in Medicine (Board of studies: Pathology), Royal Postgraduate Medical School, University of London (1987).
- Bachelor of Science in Biology, Faculty of Sciences, University of Lisbon (1981).
- Baccaloret, Charles Lepierre French High School of Lisbon (1974).

Main professional activities

- Deputy Director of the Gulbenkian Programme for Innovation in Health, Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, Lisbon Portugal (2013-).
- Deputy Director of the Department of Health and Human Development, Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, Lisbon, Portugal (2008-2012).
- Deputy Director of the Gulbenkian Institute of Science, Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, Oeiras, Portugal (1998-2007).
- Head of the Laboratory of Cell Biology, Gulbenkian Institute of Science (1993-1997).
- Vice-President of the Portuguese Society of Electron Microscopy and Cell Biology (1992-1993).
- Principal Investigator, Gulbenkian Institute of Science (1989).
- Assistant Investigator, Gulbenkian Institute of Science (1982-1988).

Areas of scientific interests

- Neuropeptides in the mammalian cardiovascular and urogenital systems (more than 70 papers in peer reviewed journals and books and 1809 personal citations). To consult list of publications see:
- <http://academic.research.microsoft.com/Author/24860047/sergio-gulbenkian>