

Calouste Gulbenkian Armenian Studies Scholarship

2023

Requirements, criteria and conditions

The Armenian Communities Department of the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation is committed to the enhancement of Armenian Studies globally. It awards scholarships to research students admitted to or already pursuing a Master or PhD degree or a Post Doc in internationally recognized universities.

Note that “Armenian Studies” is understood in a broad sense and is not confined to “Area Studies”.

To foster better understanding and knowledge about the most recent developments in Armenia and Nagorno-Karabakh/Artsakh, as well as the Diaspora, and to build stronger theoretical, empirical and/or applied research, in 2023 the Foundation will privilege in the first instance in this scholarship category research proposals on these topics. This is in line with the Foundation’s declared policy of privileging research on current and contemporary issues (i.e. post-Soviet). Research projects with high policy relevance and practical use will be especially welcomed. The following disciplines are particularly encouraged: political science/international relations, sociology, anthropology, current history, social psychology, international law, human rights, peace and conflict studies, international development and humanitarian studies, diaspora, refugee and migration studies, cultural studies, and other closely related disciplines.

We will support seven to ten Armenian Studies scholarships in 2023. The scholarship amounts for one year are indicated in the following table:

	Europe (incl. UK)	USA Canada	Other Countries
Master degree	€ 7,000	€ 10,000	Please contact us
PhD degree	€ 17,000	€ 25,000	Please contact us
Post Doc	€ 17,000	€ 25,000	Please contact us

These are fixed amounts and applicants are expected to find additional funds from other sources. In case the full amounts are not needed, either because other scholarships are obtained or the fees are considerably lower, applicants must inform the Foundation.

This programme aims to promote Armenian Studies not only as a separate field of study, but its incorporation into wider disciplines, encouraging cross-fertilization.

Requirements for eligibility

Candidates wishing to apply for a Calouste Gulbenkian Armenian Studies Scholarship must meet the following requirements:

- Be admitted to or already pursuing a Master or PhD degree or a Post Doc focusing on contemporary subjects from social science perspectives related to Armenians in an internationally recognized institution of higher education, in the academic year for which the scholarship is being applied to (the award cannot be deferred).
- Have a supervisor or an assigned committee (in cases of Post Doc, must have a letter attesting to institutional affiliation or similar in lieu of supervisor/committee).

If you do not meet these requirements then you are unlikely to be successful in your application.

Selection criteria

The scholarships are granted on a competitive basis. The selection is made by a committee within the Foundation and in consultation with academics in the field of Armenian studies. Eligible candidates are selected for a scholarship on the basis of their academic excellence and promise in the proposed field as evidenced by:

- Academic curriculum.
- The subject matter of the research.
- Research proposal, including a timeframe.
- Originality of the proposed research in the applicant's chosen field of study.
- Publications in academic journals, if any, and prior recognition of academic excellence through earlier prizes and scholarships.
- Letters of recommendation and achievement evaluations.

The Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation and the selection committee reserve the right to interview short listed candidates in person or by telephone/skype/zoom.

Conditions for maintaining the Calouste Gulbenkian Armenian Studies Scholarship

This scholarship is awarded for the period of one academic year. It may be renewed once in the case of Master degree and Post Doc and renewed up to three times in the case of PhD degree (i.e. for a total of four years), should such a renewal be stipulated in the Fellowship Contract. Renewal of the scholarship from year to year is based on good progress as assessed by the candidate's supervisor and/or committee (in the case of Post Doc, by Head of Department), and validated by the Foundation's Armenian Communities Department. Failing this requirement will lead to the cancellation of the scholarship.

The scholarship may be terminated for any breach of the terms of the agreement to be signed by both parties. In this case, the candidate shall reimburse the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation the amount received.
